Edwards: A Discourse Delivered in the Chapel of Andover Theological Seminary, June 25, 1852 Spiritually born under the instruction of the President, he loved to consider himself as a son of that great man. He removed to Southampton in middle age, and remained deacon of the church in that town, until he died, an old disciple. Not long after the death of Samuel, his son Elisha Edwards, the father of our friend, was chosen deacon of the church, and he continued faithful in that office forty years. He was a vigorous, sedate, discreet man; a firm, well-informed, energetic, self-distrusting Christian. His wife, Ann Bates, was perhaps as highly esteemed as her husband, for a saintlike life, but was more versatile and sprightly. She died when her son, near whose fresh grave we are now convened, was in his twenty-fourth year. Those who saw him bending under this affliction, said one to another: Behold how he loved her. He felt a pious joy in looking forward to his college vacations, when he might place some greener sods upon her grave. In his thirty-first year, while called on official business to a great distance from Southampton, he heard of his fathers ill health. He resolved to visit, at once, the scene where he feared that he was to be again bereaved. One of the parties interested in the official business, advised him to wait until he had completed all his engagements. You do not know what a father I have to lose, was the filial reply of the mourner, who hastened to his desolate homestead. His household ties alone...
