It calls itself by this name because it is located neither in Hamburg nor in America, but in that part of the Black Forest belong Philadelphia College of Horology 7 Is not the largest but is the finest school in the country. A practical school to learn watch-making, engraving, and jewelry repairing. One tuition pays for all branches. Send for prospectus. F. W. SCHULER, Principal, 1213 Filbert St. , Philadelphia, Pa. Write for particulars of our corresponding course. ing to Wurtemberg--a rose by any other name smells just as sweet--at Schramberg, The purpose, manner of fastening, etc. , of the clock are so self suggestive that it is unnecessary to go into an elaborate description. In the lower attachment is fastened a piece of strong clock spring, which is bent circular; at its end it has a screw-thread with nut, which is slipped into a slot on the front foot of the bar and properly secured in place by screwing it sufficiently tight so that it will be immovable. Immediately behind the bezel is a ring that revolves around the case, with an index, which can be set to point to the time of starting, after which it is tightened with the milled screw. The little clock is protected against dust and rain by an index rubber housing. These are about all the notable points of the description; the weight of the clock is about 8 ounces, and its price...
