Excerpt: . . . endured gratis. ere the truth known, it is more than probable that Captain John Smith was indirectly responsible for the ilassachusetts colony. He explored the coasts of New England seven years after he es tablished James Fort, making a map of the country between the Penobscot and Cape Cod. He did indeed volunteer, in 1619, to lead the Pilgrim Fathers to North Virginia, but they would not have him. he being a Protestant and they Puritans. He died June 21. 1631, and lies buried in St. Sepulchres Church, London. Of him two of the survivors of the Jam-es Fort colony wrote: In all his proceedings he made justice his first guide and experience his second: ever hating baseness, sloth, pride and indignity more than any dangers; never allowed more for himself than his soldiers with him; upon no danger would send them where he would not lead himself; would never see us want what he either had or could by any means get us; would rather want than borrow, or starve than not pay; loved actions more than words, and hated falsehood and cozcnage worse than death. After Smith came Lord Delaware. then Sir Thomas Dale, and afterwards Governor Yeardley. who, in the Olil wooden church at Jamestown, in June. 1619. summoned the first legislative body ever called in America and formally opened the General. ssen1hly of Virginia. And the lesson of the three hundred years You may read it as you run through...
