Not illustrated. 1921 Excerpt: .of Philadelphia, it says, had more than five columns of church news that day; twelve lines of it were Catholic. The North American of the same city had over two columns--thirteen lines Catholic. The New York World ran nearly three columns of religious information and nothing about Catholics in the whole of it. The worst example--from the viewpoint of this critic--was The Boston Evening Transcript, which filled four pages with religious news and Catholicity was recognized in only thirty lines of the whole. The Standard and Times does not, however, complain so very bitterly; it turns its investigation into the practical lesson that if Catholics want to know about their own church, they will have to subscribe for Catholic papers.-- America first ? Yes, if you mean that you put what is good for all America ahead of what is good for you and your friends.-- Defeat...
